FORGECLEAN & FORGEFLAKES

VETERINARY TOXICOLOGY RISK ASSESSMENT

This is to confirm that the Veterinary Poisons Information Service, the UK's animal poison centre, has assessed the ingredients in ForgeClean and can confirm that it does not pose any toxicological risk to horses if used as directed by the manufacturer.

The same applies for ForgeFlakes which are smaller pieces of ForgeClean soap and therefore the same formulation.

The products contains ingredients such as essential oils which can be harmful at higher doses. However, in ForgeClean and ForgeFlakes these are present at very low concentrations and are there not considered hazardous.

As with any topical product, there remains a small possibility of individual sensitivity or adverse reaction.

If there is excessive application or accidental ingestion by horses or any other species, please contact Animal PoisonLine on 01202 509000 (fees apply) for advice on whether veterinary treatment is required.
